Companies today deploy work-at-home models to support needs within their business brought on by factors out of their control. For example; limited talent pools in traditional geographic locations, unable to find Western European languages that were once a stable resource, and generational shifts in working preferences & technology developments all contribute to the challenge.

The decision to work-at-home is normally made by an individual to fit with their living situation. Agent feedback tells us that having the opportunity to work while at home impacts their lives in a very positive way. SYKESHome agents have a typical age between 30-45, and bring with them extensive work experience.

Expand talent pool

SYKESHome provides opportunity to those who can’t participate in traditional work environments. With few geographic limitations, we cast a wider net to attract the best talent and tap into pools of highly motivated and qualified candidates, including those with disabilities, return to work parents, military spouses and many others. Our Work At Home agents are located in countries across Europe.

Seamless and secure communication

SYKESHome is a fully digital supported solution operating on our secure PCI compliant OneTEAM platform. We recruit, train and manage our Work At Home teams entirely in the digital domain. OneTEAM enables our agents and management teams to communicate effectively and efficiently, regardless of geographic location.
